David Stephen was the founding Secretary in 1972 of the Tasmanian Organic Gardening and Farming Society, and the first editor of what has become ORGANIC GROWING magazine — now retailing nationally. He is self employed. For 12 years David has conducted classes in organic growing for Adult Education, using his own 1/4 acre home garden for demonstrations. He is a Tasmanian delegate for the National Association of Sustainable Agriculture (Aust.), a resource group formed to help growers to change to ecological systems, and to lobby authorities to facilitate that change.

If you would like to correspond with David you are invited to write to him at 12 Delta Avenue, Tarooma, Tasmania 7006. Please include a stamp for his reply.

Our 1989 calendar will feature alternative pest control, and hints for improving personal health. Order your copies now for $6.50 post paid from:
